Veterans Day

Veterans Day is important. Veterans risked their lives to help save our nation. And they fought for our country to help make our country free and independent. Those are a couple of the reasons why I really appreciate veterans. If you are a veteran you're a hero of our country, and you helped save many lives.

People who are veterans are part of the history of helping our country. If you come back from the war and people don't like you it's very heartbreaking because you risked your life just to help save our country. A lot of people appreciate you because you are a hero to our country.

If you noticed we are a free and independent country one of the main reasons is because of veterans. If we did not have veterans we would have to serve war no matter what as soon as we turn 18. Our country would need way more help. We would be a lot more strugglesome. Our country with a hundred percent is way different without veterans. That's why we hold a special day to honor veterans because of their hard work and sacrifice. They need to spend time away from their family just to save our nation.

I think veterans are very cool. They're very cool people. All stores that have veteran discounts are very unique and out of the ordinary because it's such a treat to give our veterans a little reward for their sacrifices. Okay so there are a couple more reasons why I like veterans. I think so that stores that gives discounts if you are a veteran you get 20% off on this item. This is why Veterans Day is important veterans are heroes are and it is an honor to have veterans.

I love veterans - they saved our country. And those are some reasons if you look through my whole essay you'll see a bunch of reasons why I appreciate veterans, why the world appreciates veterans, why America is free. A lot of things are just cuz of Veterans - everything is good.
