Veterans Day Essay

I think that Veterans Day is an important holiday to be celebrated each year for many reasons. Our veterans are very special people who have worked very hard for our country. They are brave, caring, and put others before themselves and their families. We wouldn't have our freedom without all of their help.

Our veterans are brave people. They enlist in order to serve our country. They help to protect all of us. They do that here in our country and overseas in other countries too. They never know what they will face or how long they will be away from their families. It takes courage to be away from your family and to be in places you've never been before. A lot of times what they do is dangerous. Veterans risk their lives for us.

Veterans are caring people. They care about keeping our country safe. They also care about our freedom. If people like them didn't care, then we would not be able to go to different churches or have our rights. I'm glad that there are so many people who are willing to help us.

I think that the hardest thing for our veterans to do is to leave their families. No one wants to be away from the people they love. I can't imagine having my mom or dad have to leave me and go somewhere else. So it's not just our veterans who are brave, it's their families too. Thank you to all of our veterans and their families.

In conclusion, veterans are special people who deserve our thanks and respect. They have worked hard and put others ahead of themselves and their families. They are caring and brave people. We have our free country because they all worked hard to protect us. Thank you for protecting me and my family.
